Graduated Income Tax Is Favored to Raise Revenue Deficit.

Washington, March 24.—President dore Kharas, an Omaha and Des Moines Wilson and Oscar W. Underwood, leader stock broker, on a charge of using the of the Democrats in the House, to-night reached an agreement on the tariff bill to be submitted at the special ses- Supreme Court in which the constitu- at Albany to-day, was the subject of ence with the President at the White upheld applied to-day for a rehearing meeting of the County Medical Society House for three hours reviewing with him the details of the tentative bill adopted by the Democrats of the Ways and Means Committee.

The majority leader said upon leav ing the White House:

The President and I, so I find, are in entire accord on the tariff bill. We have discussed the bill in detail and at

Mr. Underwood declined to say whether or not he had taken up with the President the income tax corollary of the new bill, but the inference was that he had and that Mr. Wilson and he were in accord on this measure. "Our discussion was of the broadest character," said Mr. Underwood, "and all of the legislation was discussed. "All of the revenue legislation?" he was asked.

'Yes," said the House leader, "we discussed it all. The President is in entire accord with us."

This statement was accepted here as indicating a moderate revision of the tariff with the possible exception of some of the food products. Mr. Underwood has been in favor of a revision of this character, and in most instances he has managed to carry the day in the framing of the tentative bill.

Mr. Underwood was asked if the President's views coincide with his own views on the matter of revenue legislation, or whether he had found the President in accord with the expressed views of the committee as they appear in the tentative bill.

No chairman of the Committee or "No chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means," said Mr. Underwood, ces, who inherited the bulk of her "ever brought out a tariff bill in which father's estate. he could be himself satisfied with each and every item. But this is a good bill—a bill which I can support heartily and with which I am satisfied, and, as I tell you, so is the President.

Underwood declined to say whether or not the deliberations of the Representatives Hull, Palmer and Peters, had resulted in a definite agreement in regard to the character of the pression in Washington to-night, howto report in favor of a graduated in-men who have advocated this sort of a tax have suggested one-half of one per cent. on incomes of $5,000 or less and the graduation of the tax on higher incomes possibly up to 2 per cent. as the limit or even greater on excessively large incomes. The committee also has been considering the possibility of making the minimum taxable as low as $3,500 instead of $5,000. It has been estimated that it will be necessary to raise from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 from the income tax hold with the Congress leaders in regard to the tariff. It was learned that the new President already has tackled this subject in a thorough, systematic way. He has been preparing himself for many weeks in the technique of the tariff programme. The President, it is believed, is likely to side with the radicals on the question of admitting agricultural products free. Mr. Wilson is said to be strongly disposed toward putting food necessa ries on the free list. Several radical revisionists on the Ways and Means Committee fought stubbornly for this but were voted down and have now carried their case to the President Mr. Underwood will report the Presi dent's views to a meeting of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee to-morrow

The house is in a fashionable quarter and requires a retinue of serment in regard to the character of the vants. The cost of maintaining it is proposed income tax. The general inthat Miss Leggett should pay one-third ever, is that the committee has decided of this, because the home is maintained chiefly for her.

The referee finds that $14,000 has been spent in the last three years for teachers, doctors, dentists, clothing, horses, autos and servants for the daughter and he makes an allowance of $44,000 for moneys expended by Mrs. Leggett for her daughter in that period.

Mrs. Leggett asked to be permitted to spend $20,000 a year out of her daughter's income for her support and education, and the referee says that while this is a large sum to spend yearly upon a girl of 16, still half the um is the daughter's share of the rent. to allow for entertainments, clothes and jewels. The referee finds that Miss Leggett has had the benefit, "not to be estimated. in money, of a refined home and the counsel of a wise and devoted mother. who has kept her daughter unspolled by luxury and simple and unselfish in character.
